

Call for Volunteer Research Assistants

The San Francisco Injury Center is looking for volunteers interested in research on intentional and unintentional injuries under the direction of three Trauma Surgeons at the University of California, San Francisco. We welcome undergraduates, recent graduates, or grad students.

Opportunities available in the following areas:

- Prevention Research
 - Association between Mental Health and Injury
 - Hospital-Based Violence Prevention
 - Transportation-Related Injuries
 - Economics and Policy
- Acute Care Research
 - Prospective Transfusion and Resuscitation Trial in Severely Injured Patients
 - ICU Monitoring and Outcome Improvement In Critically Injured Patients
 - Coagulation, Inflammation and Outcome after Trauma

Requirements:

- An interest in research and injury
- A time commitment of one year (part-time)
- Must carry health insurance

Benefits:

- Recommendation letters to graduate or professional school
- Potential co-authorship on scientific journals/ conference presentations

Send resumes to:
Peg Skaj, Administrator
pskaj@sfghsurg.ucsf.edu